

Early Years are Learning Years

Decades of research demonstrates that high-quality, developmentally appropriate early childhood programs produce short- and long-term positive effects on children's cognitive and social development.

NAEYC and NCAEYC work to promote quality and excellence!

Investing in Young Children

NAEYC and NCAEYC believe our state and nation will prosper when we invest in the well-being and education of children, families and the professionals that serve them. Our society will benefit from this return on investment both financially and with a more vibrant nation of healthy, productive children and families.

Working with Others
